HISTORIC BOOK TOWER

Book Tower, located at 1265 Washington Boulevard, was designed by architect Louis Kamper and built by the Book Brothers in 1926. It was the tallest building in Detroit until 1928 and has 14 floors in the main building and 38 floors in the tower. After being closed in 2009, it was purchased by Bedrock in 2015 and reopened Summer 2023 after extensive renovations.

Conservatory

The Conservatory

The Conservatory Ballroom, on the 13th floor of the Book Building, has 2,700 square feet of bright and beautiful event space that can accommodate 200 seated or 275 strolling reception. Rich wood paneling, Versailles patterned wood floors, and warm velvet drapery set the stage for an opulent event.

The image shows a sophisticated lounge area. In the background, a dark wood bar features a glass-fronted cabinet filled with various glassware. Two spherical pendant lamps hang on either side of the bar. In the foreground, two light-colored, upholstered armchairs are positioned on a herringbone-patterned wooden floor. Sunlight streams in from the right, casting long shadows across the room. The overall aesthetic is classic and elegant.
